As a guarantee of confidence, the services are regularly subject to an unannounced and independent check. What's happenend during the holyday

"Hello everyone, it's 7 a.m. Today is July 8 and it's the first day of summer ! The sky is blue and temperatures will be around 28°C this afternoon throughout France. We wish you all a very happy holiday!"

Sophie turns off the alarm clock, it's time to wake up the children, the time for the big departure is approaching.

Vincent is already loading the car with the suitcases. In a few hours, they will be with his parents in the Landes to spend 15 days with his family. The whole family gathers around a good breakfast and they start talking about the holidays.

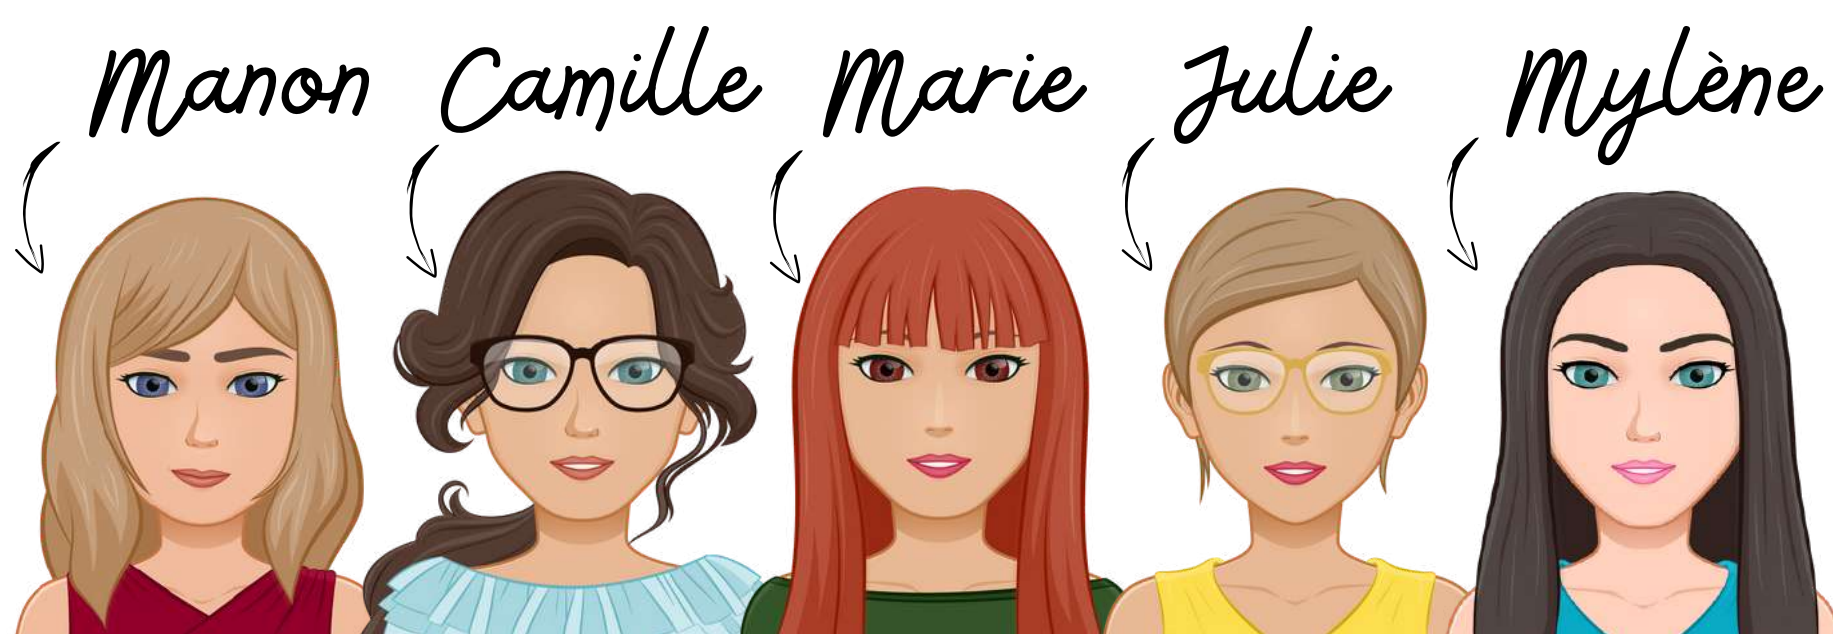

Zoé is passionate about sports: she wants to try to integrate the sports club of her college next year. So she made a list of all the activities she wanted to try during her stay: pony, tree climbing, cycling, canoeing, circus, ...

As for Nathan, his little brother, he always reading books! What he likes is History: from Prehistory to the Middle Ages, passing through Antiquity. He wants to visit all the museums and castles near grandpa and grandma house !

For parents, it's simple, they are epicureans ! For them, the perfect holiday comes down to tasting local products, visiting wine estates and listening to the bandas during feria.

9:30 am! Everyone get in the little red car, it's time to go. Grandpa and Grandma are expecting the little family for dinner tonight. They must not drag on, the road is long and there may be people on the road...

"Radio Gascogne" accompanies you on the road to vacation with hits from yesterday and today"

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT

Our commitments in terms of Sustainable Development (SD)

Within our structure:

- All staff are made aware of everyday eco-gestures (saving energy, water, etc.)
- A Sustainable Tourism referent has been appointed within the team and is regularly trained on the subject
- Minimizing the number of prints of our paper editions and choosing a printer with the Imprim'Vert label
- Carpooling for meetings, visits and other administrative trips.
- Systematic use of reusable glasses during our events, washable hand towels
- Stock management of brochures published by the Tourist Office and those of our partners
- Display of the Office's commitment in all our communication media
- Recycling of our ink cartridges, reuse of paper, sorting of waste
- Digitization of all our internal communication media

To home:

- Incentive and information on public transport (bus routes and carpooling book)
- Emphasis on our various communication media on our partners engaged in SD initiatives.
- Awareness of visitors to adopt the right reflexes during their stays via the nudge
- Encouragement to download the Tourist Office brochures via the website

The 6 commandments of the eco-responsible tourist

1

On your journeys you'll pay attention

To reach us, reach the stations of Mont-de-Marsan, Pau, Agen, Auch and Tarbes and take the bus to Aire-sur-L'Adour. Ask us for the timetables or on our website, section

"How come?"

Once here, leave your car in the car park for a day and treat yourself to an electric bike ride in the heart of our Tursan hills. Want to go further and visit our region? Get on board Catherine's mini-bus during one of her many excursions or with Flo's combi for a memorable getaway!

Green activities you'll practice

The ideal is to turn to so-called "soft" and non-motorized activities such as paddle, canoe, electric bike or horseback riding. And if the latter are carried out not far from the place of residence, it is even better. On vacation, short walks in nature are often on the program. Near lakes or in the forest, do not venture off the beaten track and into closed and protected spaces.

A zero waste suitcase you'll make

In your luggage, take the bare minimum and avoid slipping single-use plastic products that could pollute the place of destination. And if you don't know where to get a perfect zero waste kit, go see Isabelle at the Zero Waste Workshop in Aire sur l'Adour.

4

Your waste you'll sort

On vacation, we do not forget our good habits. We throw our waste in the right bin! To find out the sorting instructions (these differ depending on the city), ask at the reception of the campsite, the hotel, your accommodation provider or the Tourist Office.

5

Local seasonal products or second hand you will consume

Like at home, avoid buying products that come from the other side of the world and favor those that have been produced in the region.

6

In your accommodation you will save

WITH US

The identity of our territory is strong in its wealth...

Did you know ? The route of Le Puy, the camino, passes through our area and the Sainte-Quitterie church in Aire-sur-l'Adour, listed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site, is one of these Ways of Compostela.

13 km away is the village of Eugénie les Bains, world famous for the cuisine of Michel Guérard and for its spa treatment.

Who better to tell you these stories than the protagonists who gave birth to them?

Saint-Jacques-de-Compostelle

“My legend says that after Pentecost, I left to evangelize Spain. I disembarked in Andalusia on the Mediterranean coast and from there I traveled to Galicia, a region located at the northwestern end of the Iberian Peninsula. After a few years, I return to Jerusalem where I was beheaded. Two of my disciples put my body in a boat and took to the sea. The boat, pushed by the wind and the waters, ran aground at the bottom of an estuary in Galicia. My two disciples buried my body inland, in a place where the city of Santiago de Compostela will be erected. »

Here passes the Chemin du Puy! It is the busiest way to reach Santiago de Compostela. Departing from Puy en Velay, you reach Spain through diverse and varied landscapes such as the Sucs du Velay, the Allier gorges, Gévaudan, Aubrac, the Lot Valley...and at home! From Arblade-le-Bas to Latrille, via Barcelona du Gers and Aire sur l'Adour. Go, you too, in the footsteps of pilgrims! After leaving the banks of the Adour, head towards the water reserve of Lac du Brousseau to Miramont-Sensacq. You will enjoy the landscapes of the Landes and depending on the visibility, you will have very beautiful views of the Tursan and the Pyrenees!

Sainte-Quitterie

«My legend says that I was the daughter of Kathilius, Visigoth leader. I refused the hand of a pretender, of Arian religion, imposed by my father, because I was raised in the Catholic faith, and the love of Jesus. So I couldn't marry a heretic! I fled the capital of the Visigoth Empire, Toulouse, to take refuge in Aire sur l'Adour. My suitor, very annoyed by this refusal, ended up finding me and had me beheaded, at the foot of the Mas hill.

When my head touched the ground, a fountain sprang up. This fountain is the one that is still visible in the coast of the Mas, in Aire. Two angels told me how to proceed... I took my head in my hands to place it at the top of the Mas plateau, where my white marble sarcophagus is today (in the crypt of the Sainte -Quitterie church). »

Very close to the church of Aire flows today a fountain to which one attributes the virtue of curing headaches and all that touches the head in general, including those who lose it!

Many fountains in the Landes but also in Béarn, supposed to have the same virtues, are placed under the patronage of the saint. Quitterie has since been a typical first name of the Landes and the Southwest in general.

Eugénie de Montijo

“My name is Eugénie de Montijo, I was born in 1826 in Granada (Spain) and died in 1920 in Madrid (Spain). I am known to have been the wife of Napoleon III, Emperor of the French. As such, I bore the title of Empress of the French from 1853 to 1870.

The 1870s are difficult for me. The regime disappeared following the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-1871, then I successively saw the death of my husband in 1873 and of my only son in 1879. Because of the regency that I exercised during this war, I am the last woman to have governed France with the prerogatives of a head of state! »

The commune of Eugénie-les-Bains was created from scratch in 1861 from the "water" district of Saint-Loubouer which was located at the end of the commune. In the 19th century, successive analyzes of these sources made it possible to formalize the benefits of this water. Driven by Napoleon III and the Empress Eugénie de Montijo, hydrotherapy will experience a real boom under the Second Empire, a vogue from which Tursan will benefit among others. The new commune is thus named in honor of the Empress.

Today it is a Thermal Station of the Thermal Chain of the Sun where rheumatism and metabolism disorders are treated..

VITICULTURAL

AOP Tursan

This small vineyard, located in the south of the Landes, was able to charm, in their time, King Henri IV and Empress Eugénie.

The reds are powerful, with notes of red fruits, leather and spices.
The delicate, fine and thirst-quenching rosés have tangy notes of currants.
The whites, straight and lively, have floral citrus notes.

AOP Saint-Mont

From the 1970s, the winegrowers of St-Mont formed themselves into a cooperative and went in search of rare grape varieties.

The reds reveal notes of red and black fruits, candied fruits and liquorice on the palate.
The whites have notes of citrus and dried fruit
The rosés are characterized, by notes of small Red fruits and English sweets.

AOP Côtes de Gascogne

The identity and typicality of Côtes de Gascogne come from blends of traditional grape varieties.

The reds have hints of raspberries and currants
The whites have notes of peach then acacia
The rosés have notes of tangy red fruits

AOP Madiran

An original and rare grape variety, tannat gives Madiran wines all the qualities of a great wine for laying down.

Intense reds with a purple robe, endowed with a beautiful aromatic richness: black fruits such as cherry, blackberry and blackcurrant and notes of spices: pepper, cinnamon, liquorice

AOC Pacherenc du Vic-Bilh

The "white" version of Madiran wines

The sunny valleys of the "old country" produce original, fresh and very aromatic dry whites (citrus fruits, exotic fruits, white-fleshed fruits), and intense and harmonious sweet whites with aromas of candied fruits, honey and dried fruits.

AOC Armagnac

Armagnac is the oldest wine eau-de-vie produced in the South West of France, in the heart of Gascony.

It is obtained by the distillation of white wine in an Armagnac still, then aged for many years in oak barrels before being marketed, it is offered in blends or as a vintage.

AOC Floc de Gascogne

Floc-de-gascogne is a liqueur wine made by mixing grape must and young Armagnac.

White or red, the Flocs de Gascogne are made from the elegant marriage of two-thirds fresh grape juice and one-third young Armagnac.
